

The Inaugural Diana Temple Memorial Lecture

Hosted by The Bosch Institute, The University of Sydney as part of its Distinguished Seminar Series in conjunction with the Australian and New Zealand Association for the Advancement of Science (ANZAAS) and the Women in Science Enquiry Network (WISNET).

Professor Judy Black AO

Nothing else is important when you can't breathe!

Friday, 19 October, 2007, 1:00 – 2:00pm

Education Lecture Theatre 351, Education Building, The University of Sydney

Map coordinates 13G (parking at Western Ave Parking Station M8)

<http://db.auth.usyd.edu.au/directories/map/largemap00a.html>

To register please contact Kathleen Evans, email kathleen.evans@bosch.org.au; phone 9036 3338

Professor Black is a Professor and NH&MRC Senior Principal Research Fellow in the Discipline of Pharmacology at The University of Sydney, the Leader of the Cells Group within the Woolcock Institute of Medical Research, and is an Associate Physician in the Department of Respiratory Medicine, Royal Prince Alfred Hospital. She was one of the late Professor Temple's first PhD students.

For more information on Diana Temple (1925-2006) see:

<http://www.usyd.edu.au/pharmacology/temple.html>

<http://wisenet-australia.org/issue73/contnt73.htm>

The University of Sydney
AUSTRALIA